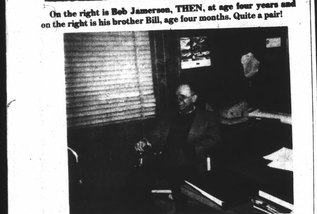
THEN and NOW!

By Frances H. Paulette

HISTORY—He Loves It!

On the right is Bob Jamerson, THEN, at age four years and on the right is his brother Bill, age four months. Quite a pair!



Bob Jamerson, NOW; never happier than when he is 'poking around' in old history books and records of Appomattox County.

It was only a short time ago that the gentleman came to town; his name was George Elliott and he came to Appomattox to visit his second cousin, Bob Jamerson.

After they had been chatting for quite some time, George, with laughter in his eyes, inquired of Bob if he remembered an earlier encounter - - - when they had been 'just boys.'

The occasion had been a Purdum family reunion, held here in Appomattox County. Bob had been about eight years of age at the time and his visiting cousin was approximately ten.

Young Elliott, who had come to the reunion with his aunt, was most fashionably dressed, much to her delight. It afforded her great pleasure, as she introduced little George to all of the Appomattox 'relations' to note just how fresh and white his suit appeared. Sad to say, his appearance was due for a change - a drastic change!

Picture, if you will, a ten year old boy at an all-day family gathering, dressed in a white linen suit. Oh! how nice he looked!

Bob Jamerson decided right then and there that his visiting cousin looked just a bit too nice, and someting had to be done.

With the assistance of his brother, Bill Jamerson, and James R. Ford, Jr., Bob coaxed his cousin into the back yard on the assumption that they were going to look at something. No messy, boisterous play to 'dirty' up his pretty white suit, just looking!

As poor George was wondering what they were going to see, he was suddenly hit from the rear with a stream of water so forceful that it almost knocked him to his feet!

To quote Bob, "We really soaked that bird good!" Although the linen suit was probably never the same, Bob, brother Bill and James didn't have to worry - - - they were comfortably dressed in overalls!

This incident, full of mischief, was only one of many in the life of Robert (Bob) Jamerson, son of Lula Smith Jamerson and James Everette Jamerson. He has one brother, William (Bill) Jamerson; one sister, Mary Lou Jamerson Harrison; they were all born and reared in the county of Appomattox.

A birth defect which made walking a chore and climbing a stairway almost an impossibility was the deciding factor when Bob Jamerson dropped out of school in the sixth grade. Getting to the upstairs classrooms and down again was just a bit too much for Bob to undertake.

In discussing the handicap, Bob said, "Let's not talk about that; after all, doesn't everyone have a handicap of some sort or other?" He's right, you know!

Though through with formal schooling, Bob's parents saw to it that he was not through with learning. With the help of Mrs. Frances McDearmon Cheatham who taught him English and Lindsey Crawley who gave instruction in Math, Bob continued his studies for the next two years. Mrs. Virginia Rosser taught him bookkeeping in her home here in Appomattox and C. Richard Neher, Jr. of Lynchburg is responsible for his excellent knowledge of bookkeeping.

At age 16 Bob began his career with his father, Mr. Jamerson, a hard worker and knowledgable in his field, taught him the fundamentals of the construction business and was happy when Bob caught on quickly. Bob enjoyed his work and remained with his father and the firm. J. E. Jamerson and Sons for the next thirty years, retiring in December of 1976.

The year 1965 was a very special one for Robert Jamerson for it was during that year that he married Victoria Ryan Hawkins; they have two children, a daughter Debra and a son, Kenneth.

When he was in school, there was one subject that Bob would pursue with exceptional interest, and I might add, with no coaxing! It was history; "Except Ancient History", Bob was quick to add, "I hated that!"

After finding her husband, on more than one occasion, absorbed in the book, A History of Appomattox County by the late Nathaniel Ragland Featherston. Vickie laughingly dubbed the book, "Bob's Bible"!

With his love of history, it was only natural, when the Appomattox County Historical Society was formed, Bob became a charter member.

Bob joined Liberty Baptist Church in August of 1943; he is a member of the Appomattox Lions' Club, a Charter member of the Appomattox Jaycees and was appointed to the Bicentennial Commission in 1975.

As Bob pursued his interest in history, especially the history of our own Appomattox County, both through the Appomattox County Historical Society and on his own, he became aware of a need. Appomattox County needed a complete, up-to-date history and he wanted to have a part in the writing of that book.

Bob wasn't forgetting his "Bible", Featherston's history of the county; it is good but is also thirty years old.

When asked to head a group of fourteen people to work as a committee under the direction of the Appomattox County Historical Society to write a history book of Appomattox County, Bob was quick to accept.

There has been one major delay in the research and work on the book. On Easter Sunday morning in 1977 at a Sunrise Service at the Surrender Grounds, Bob had the misfortune to break a leg.

So often history of a given place is written hurriedly and because of the haste with which it is compiled it is inaccurate. Bob, like other members of the committee, is most anxious to get the book underway, but is much more concerned that the contents be as accurate as possible.

Bob Jamerson spends approximately 40 hours a week on research for the history to be written. This involves rambling through libraries, poring over books and documents, going through stacks and stacks of papers.

Bob does this because he loves it, but more than that he loves Appomattox County. He wants this county to have a complete, accurately up-to-date history and he wants to be a part of this venture.

You can have a part in the writing of this history too! Somewhere in your home or business, tucked away in a drawer or file, there may be papers or documents having to do with the early years of Appomattox County.

"Oh, no!" you very quickly say to yourself, "All I have is a bunch of old records, business and church, or something of that nature that belonged to my parents or grandparents, nothing really important, you know." How do you know it isn't important?

It is entirely possible that one tiny scrap of paper may hold a clue to information directly related to the early days of Appomattox County. Should you find anything that might be of help to the committee, please call Bob Jamerson at 352-8443 or contact me, Frances Paulette at The Times-Virginian at 352-8215.

Working together we can make that history accurate and complete. Let's Do It. Won't You Help?
